Mary Joy,

Absolutely, although not exactly aligned. I pulled out three pages from the final BAR submission package directly related to the gate request. The second page has a small plan showing the alley space.

Do you have a plan view of the previous proposal? Then I'll send both to the BAR to see if they need to formally review.

Mary Joy,

I have taken over as the Baskervill project manager for the construction phase of the CFA Institute renovation of the former Martha Jefferson Hospital. I actually attended the BAR meeting with Don Tate on November 20, 2012. Thank you very much for all the work you have done with our project so far, and I am very pleased to be a part of a valuable renovation project in your Charlottesville.

CFA has asked me to contact you about a small change in the project to make sure that your understanding of the project is up to date, and to verify that we do not need to follow-up with anything more formal. We have previously asked to install a gate between the Patterson Wing and the South Wing, but now that the Owner has been able to observe this alley during construction, they would like to delete that gate and provide a nicer landscaped pedestrian pathway instead. Attached for your review and comment is a sketch from Collins Engineering showing the proposed modification, with the new work shown in color.

If you would like a copy of what we sent previously, I would be happy to send that along.
