REPORTS

1. REPORT: State of Homelessness

Misty Graves, Director of the Department of Human Services, introduced the presentation and summarized the City's role on the continuum of care for people at risk for or who are experiencing homelessness.

Shayla Washington, Executive Director for the Blue Ridge Area Coalition for the Homeless (BRACH), the Continuum of Care designated Lead Agency, presented data about the number of people experiencing homelessness in the Charlottesville area. The Point in Time (PIT) count decreased from 2023 to 2024. The By-Name List beginning June 2023 counted 498 total people over one year and approximately 200 total people at a given time. The Homeless Information Line, created to assist people who are experiencing homelessness or at imminent risk (14 days or less) of becoming homeless, served 1,310 calls over one year and 587 unique callers during the same timeframe. Ms. Washington provided examples of how BRACH is addressing the need for housing and supportive services, and community partners joined her for the presentation.

Anna Mendez, Executive Director of The Haven, reported on The Haven's day shelter, reach-in, and housing services. The Haven's goal is to provide a safe and welcoming space for people experiencing homelessness and poverty, supporting individuals and families as they pursue stability through connections to resources and creative housing solutions.

Liz Yohn, Operations Manager at PACEM, provided information about their services, and spoke about a need for more low-barrier housing such as Premier Circle on Route 29, which provided 115 units of non-congregate shelter and centralized supportive services, aimed to functionally end chronic homelessness in the community.

Sandy Chirico, Director of Social Services at the Salvation Army, shared their program report. A Director of Social Services position was added; the corps assisted 4,677 people; the soup kitchen provided 49,265 meals; the shelter provided 18,278 nights lodging; the team assisted 577 families with energy assistance; and 6,829 volunteer hours were calculated with 1,515 volunteers. The Angel Tree program provided gifts for over 840 children, helping over 350 families. She provided an update on the giving campaign and timeline for construction of their new building.

Sarah Ellis, fundraising and Development Coordinator, reported on the Shelter for Help in Emergency (SHE), which offers a variety of services designed to empower victims of domestic/intimate partner violence and create a community of support. In addition to emergency shelter, SHE provides counseling, support and legal advocacy, Spanish-language outreach, Prevention services, and child and teen programs. Since 1979, 10,472 adults and children have received safe shelter and support services. The Shelter for Help in Emergency answers over 2,000 hotline calls, provides nearly 5,000 nights of safety, assists more than 400 adults and children seeking help each year, and provides emergency residential services to around 200 adults and children. On average, 36% of these clients are Charlottesville residents, representing the largest percentage of area requests for support services. The average length of stay is 23 nights and these statistics have remained consistent for many years.

Ms. Washington reported on Region Ten's PATH program (Projects for Assistance in Transition). The program provides outreach and assistance to adults with serious mental illness who are experiencing homelessness or who are at risk of becoming homeless. Services include community-based outreach, mental health connection and support, substance abuse support, and case management. 125 clients were served from June 1, 2023, to June 1, 2024. She also reported on behalf of Charlottesville City Schools and thanked organizations for setting up cooling shelters during extremely hot days.

Council and the city manager engaged in discussion with the community partners to clarify ongoing needs. Anthony Haro, Executive Director for the Blue Ridge Area Coalition for the Homeless (BRACH) Housing Program Manager, answered a question about the use of Housing Choice Vouchers.
